In accordance with the Data Protection Act, please rest assured that we will not, under any circumstances, allow any information given on this paper to be given to anyone without your written consent. At this stage, we are only interested in assessing public opinion on a personal concern, which we believe could, or should, be of interest to others similarly affected. The final decision on any change rests with the appropriate Road Naming and Numbering department of Cornwall Council at the former Penwith District Council offices in Penzance. This action has the support of County Councillor Chris Goninan, and will shortly be presented to the St Just Town Council for similar approval.
